Netta Barzilai: Ambassador for Israeli Apartheid

Israel's fanatic prime minister Netanyahu has paraded and used Netta Barzilai, with her full agreement, as "the best ambassador of Israel."

Netta Barzilai has willingly placed her music in the hands of the far-right Israeli government. It is using her as a propaganda tool to distract attention from Israel's attacks on Palestinian artists and cultural centers, its illegal settlements pushing Palestinian families off their land and its racist apartheid regime that denies Palestinians their basic human rights.

Palestinian artists and cultural associations are calling for a boycott of Israeli institutions and state representatives due to their complicity in Israel's oppression, colonization and apartheid

As groups opposed to racism and oppression, we are calling for a protest of Netta Barzilai's show in Berlin due to her active and conscious role as a cultural ambassador for Israel's regime of military occupation and apartheid against the Palestinian people.

- On May 14, the day Israel massacred 62 Palestinians in Gaza, including six children, Netta Barzilai performed a government-hosted celebratory concert in Tel Aviv, and said, "We have a reason to be happy."

- Barzilai performs at Israeli government-sponsored Pride events, contributing to the Israeli government's pinkwashing agenda, the cynical use of LGBT rights to mask its ongoing denial of Palestinian human rights.

- Barzilai performed at the birthday party for US billionaire Sheldon Adelson, fanatic anti-Palestinian supporter of far right governments, from Israel's to the Trump administration, who has made the racist and dehumanizing claim that "Palestinians are an invented people."
